

WINNERS OF THE GIRLS ON FILM AWARDS 2024 ANNOUNCED

London, 20 February 2024 – Barbie and Poor Things lead the way at the third annual Girls On Film Awards, which took place on 20 February 2024 at Regent Street Cinema in central London.

The summer smash hit Barbie took home both the Production Design and Publicity Awards, for Warner Brothers, at tonight's awards ceremony with the new category for Costume Design won for the exceptional work done by British costume designer Holly Waddington for Poor Things. Emma Stone also won the Female Orgasm on Screen Award, sponsored by Intimacy On Set, for her exceptional journey of discovery in the acclaimed film.

The Girls On Film Ally Award, awarded to a male ally in the film industry who has demonstrated great commitment to the representation of women this year and sponsored by IMDb, went to William Oldroyd for Eileen. Reclaim The Frame, who champion marginalised perspectives in cinema, won this year's Activist Impact Award,

The Fiction Feature Award, sponsored by EON Productions, went to Celine Song's exquisite Past Lives and the Feature Documentary Award went to Kokomo City.

Reflecting the ethos of the Girls On Film podcast, hosted by Anna Smith, the awards reward excellence in women-focused films in the fields of diversity, inclusion and the representation of women and people of marginalised genders.

The voters for the Girls On Film Awards 2024 were predominantly leading and diverse women film critics from around the UK, and male film critics who are allies and have appeared on the Girls On Film podcast.

The Girls On Film Awards were hosted by Anna Smith and Hedda Archbold on 20 February 2024 at Regent Street Cinema in Central London, days after the EE BAFTA Film Awards and in the run-up to International Women's Day. The ceremony was attended by nominees, patrons and previous award winners.
